RODA PENDANT LARGE

Ceiling Lights

Blending the industrial world with the natural world, the Roda pendant contrasts a metal frame in Lacquered Bronze with a delicate disc of white alabaster, creating a soft ethereal glow as the light passes through it. Prized for its snow-white colour, alabaster was often used by the ancient Egyptians to carve sculptures. The stone is translucent which gives it a beautiful luminosity, with earthy brown and black markings often visible. Playing further with texture and contrast, Roda's metal frame is cast in a mould to achieve the distinctive textured lines across its surface. Named after the Portuguese word for 'wheel' deriving from the Latin word 'rota'.
